

Code of Conduct | Kenya Safari

You are responsible to find out if you need a visa and, if so, to get it before departure.

You are responsible for making sure you have the joining instructions before leaving home.

The Safari will proceed as shown in the itinerary unless unavoidable circumstances occur.

Participants may not attempt to change the itinerary during the Safari.

While on Safari, questions about itinerary or suggestions, requests, etc. are to be posed to the Group Leader before bringing to the group for discussion.

If you wish some independent time it is to be arranged with the Group Leader beforehand.

You are expected to be on time for daily departures and re-grouping. Everyone will be given the name, location, and phone number of accommodations. Please keep this handy so you can find your own way if the group has to leave without you.

Changes made by the Safari Manager are necessary and to be honored. They have been made for good reason. Explanations will be given as appropriate, e.g. a new government requirement – a political demonstration makes a detour advisable.

Laws on drug use are much more stringent and have much harsher penalties in Kenya than we are accustomed to. No drug use is permitted on Sophia Services tours other than medical prescriptions. Any such infractions will result in immediate expulsion from the tour. This includes marijuana. A medical prescription for marijuana is not accepted in Kenya.

Homosexuality is considered illegal in Kenya. Please be mindful of this as consequences, if charged, are severe. If you have any questions don't hesitate to contact me.

Always keep in mind: We are ambassadors for North America. We endeavor to be polite at all times and remember we are guests in someone else's country. Even in crowded situations, pushing and shoving is not acceptable behavior. Acting in an overly dominant manner in stressful situations is unwise and impolite.

If you know that you snore, you are expected to take a single room and pay the single supplement if one applies. Sleep is important for everyone's enjoyment of a tour.

Every participant in a Sophia Services tour is required to sign this agreement.

I agree to abide by this code of conduct:
